

"RESEARCH STUDIES TACKLING CHALLENGES IN TRANSFUSION MEDICINE"

Platelets and red cells play an important role in blood clotting/wound repair and oxygen/carbon dioxide transportation, respectively. Blood banking encompasses the preparation and provision of blood and blood components for transfusion purposes. Scientific approaches will be introduced to address current challenges in blood banking impacting transfusion medicine.